understand the needs and problems that are present in the communities. Everybody needs to be aware that the common mission of research and extension services is to help people improve their lives”, Dr. Camilo A. Polinga, Vice President for Academic Affairs, said.

On the second day, research and extension papers from the different departments of CCAT campus were presented where Mr. Jerico B. Tadeo of the Business Management Department and Ms. Mari Daisy O. Corral were awarded “Best Research Presenter” and “Best Extension Presenter”, respectively.

For this year, the Office of Research and Extension-CCAT has implemented laudable research and extension projects and re-established its focus making science, technology and community development its flagship.

The event was a success through the effort of all faculty research and extension workers in the different departments of the campus with the guidance and support of Dr. Jose P. Lisama, CCAT Campus Administrator, together with his team of directors and chairpersons. (MDOCorral)

ERB conducts re-orientation on research ethics, review protocols

The CvSU Ethics Review Board (ERB) conducted an activity titled “Re-Orientation on Research Ethics and ERB Review Protocols” last November 13 at SM Rolle Hall, Cavite State University. Faculty members, designated faculty researchers, and research coordinators of different colleges and campuses attended the said activity. Dr. Yolanda A. Ilagan, director for Research, welcomed the participants.

In order for the different units to understand the nature of the Ethics Review itself, Dr. Jenny Beb F. Ebo and Prof. Jason R. Maniacop faculty members from the College of Economics, Management and Development Studies (CEMDS) and College of Education (CED), respectively were tasked to share their insights on the Research Ethics Training that they had attended.

The Application of Ethics in Research and Ethical Principles were introduced to the research coordinators as discussed by Dr.

Dr. C. Banaag addressing issues on social and behavioral researches

Alvin-William A. Alvarez, faculty member of the College of Veterinary Medicine and Biomedical Sciences (CVMBS) and the current chair of the Cavite State University Institutional Animal Care and Use Committee (CvSU-IACUC). This was followed by the presentation of the Ethical Issues in Social and Behavioral Researches by Dr. Cecilia B. Banaag, dean of CED and an Ethics Reviewer for Social Science Researches at De La Salle Health Sciences Institute-Dasmariñas (DLSHSI-D). Meanwhile, Prof. Nenita B. Panaligan, faculty member of the College of Nursing (CON) and Ethics Reviewer for Health and Health Related Researches at CvSU and DLSHSI-D was tasked to elaborate on the Ethical Issues in Health and Health Related Researches.

Dr. Yolanda Ilagan welcoming the participants

The 100 attendees were also re-oriented on the process flow of the Ethics Review which was discussed by Dr. Rezin C. Bahia. Meanwhile, the different forms to be accomplished by the researchers for ethics review application were discussed by Dr. Bernadette A. Sapinoso and Dr. Cherry R. Alvarez, ERB chairperson and ERB secretary, respectively. (AMErni)

CvSU-T3 faculty receive awards in the 4th NRCASH

Three faculty members from Cavite State University-T3 campuses (General Trias City, Trece Martires City and Tanza Campuses) won awards during the 4th National Conference on Arts, Science and Health (4th NRCASH) held at Villa Caceres Hotel, Naga City last November 27-29.

Jointly sponsored by Bicol State College of Applied Sciences and Technology (BSCAST) and Lyceum of the Philippines University (LPU) – Batangas, the 4th NRCASH themed, Creating Sustainable Environment and Resilient Communities, served as an avenue for people in the academe to respond to the challenges that the environment is facing, and develop modern and workable strategies that would address the issues concerning community sustainability and resiliency.

A total of 225 research papers were grouped into 29 tracks and were presented to the audience and evaluators. Three faculty members of T3 campuses won in their respective tracks.

Dr. Noel B. Manarpiis of Tanza campus emerged as the 2nd Best Presenter in Track 8: Culture and Tradition and 2nd Best Full Paper for Arts and Humanities Category with the study collaboratively done with his students titled, “Acculturation Story of Badjaos in Daang Amaya, Tanza, Cavite, Philippines”. Meanwhile, Ms. Louziela P. Masana won 2nd Best Presenter in Track 17: Humanities and Social Science with her research titled, “Exploring the Behavioral Process of Adolescents at Risk of Non-Suicidal Self-Injurious Behavior”. Mr. Victoriano P. Barliso, Jr.

emerged as the Best Presenter in Track 24: Teaching and Learning Process with his research titled, “TPACK Paradigm in Teaching Professional Education Courses”.

The productive and meaningful engagement with this undertaking served as springboard for researchers to apply new knowledge in creating sustainable environment and resilient communities. (LPMasana)

In his message, he inspired everyone to promote Philippine coffee to become world class with the help of researchers that can provide technical assistance. Dr. Nicomedes P. Eleazar, DA-Bureau of Agricultural Research (DA-BAR) Director, representing Dr. William D. Dar, Department of Agriculture (DA) Secretary, highlighted the importance of strengthening research and development to further improve the efficiency of domestic coffee production. Also present on Day 1 were Hon. Perfecto V. Fidel, Municipal Mayor of Indang, and Hon. Irene P. Bencito, former Board Member of Cavite, representing Hon. Juanito Victor C. Remulla, Jr., Governor of Cavite. Meanwhile, Indak Amanah from Amadeo, Cavite entertained the audience with Dance for Coffee, a showcase of the journey of coffee from planting, harvesting, processing to drinking.

Graced by equally eloquent speakers, the plenary sessions and technology forum provided a venue for the discussion of the status, opportunities and challenges of the local coffee industry vis-a-vis business and marketing, consumer education, natural science, peace and equity, and faith. Aside from the plenary sessions, the oral presentation of research and extension papers and posters also served as one of the highlights of the event where a total of 17 research breakthroughs from various clusters were presented. The social science researches dealt with cooperative membership, production efficiency, and factors in the viability of coffee production. Natural sciences and engineering category included the development of coffee-based products, assessment and development of technology and machinery for various processes, and characterization of coffee species.

A barista competition was also held and participated in by college students from CvSU Main and General Trias Campuses, Lyceum of the Philippines University and Laguna State Polytechnic University. Meanwhile, the Trade Fair and Exhibit provided a one- stop location where popular and start-up coffee shops, coffee cooperatives, academes, and (continue on page 5)

Pelorina speaks at Graduate Research Conference

Dr. Renato N. Pelorina, designated faculty researcher, served as the resource speaker of the 3rd Graduate Research Conference of the Graduate School of Osmeña Colleges in Masbate City, Masbate held at the Osmeña Colleges' Audio-Visual Room on October 12, 2019. Co-sponsored by the Graduate School and the College of Education of Osmeña Colleges, the conference was carried out in partnership with Dr. Emilio B. Espinosa Sr. Memorial State College of Agriculture and Technology (DEBEMSCAT), Commission on Higher Education (CHED) and Cavite State University (CvSU). Themed, "Knowledge Building Towards the Attainment of Sustainable Development Goals," the conference was primarily designed to train graduate students in research who are teaching in the different tertiary and secondary schools in the province of Masbate. As an alumnus of Osmeña Colleges and an ardent advocate for the promotion of the history and culture of Masbate, Dr. Pelorina spoke on the "Researches That Matter for Masbate," a topic the conference organizers had chosen for him to talk about. Making the local history of Masbate as his niche in research, Dr. Pelorina stressed the importance of Masbate's history and culture to his fellow Masbateños and presented viable topics for them to possibly work on and support his advocacy. After his speech, a meeting was held in connection with a plan to put up a Masbate Studies Center in Osmeña Colleges and organize a conference on Masbate Studies. Moreover, there is an ongoing negotiation between Dr. Pelorina and Dr. Jonald Sia, Dean, College of Education of Osmeña Colleges, to establish linkage between Osmeña Colleges and Cavite State University through a Memorandum of Agreement (MOA) to be executed by the heads of the two institutions. manufacturers gathered to showcase their own coffee-based products.

During the awarding ceremony, the research titled, "Characterization and Identification of Commercially Cultivated Coffee (Coffea spp.) in the Philippines" authored by Miriam D. Baltazar, Jermaine Marie Ann O. Fabella, Maowel A. Villanueva and Angeliza B. Restrivera bagged the first prize for the research paper presentation. Best research poster was awarded to the entry titled, "DNA Barcodes for Commercially Cultivated Coffee (Coffea spp.) in the Philippines" by Arleen Panaligan, Miriam D. Baltazar and Grecebio Jonathan Alejandro.

Additionally, CvSU Main Campus team from the College of Education emerged the winner of the 1st Barista Competition. Aside from cash prize and certificate, the winning team could avail free training at the Institute for Coffee Excellence (ICE) sponsored by Henry & Sons Trading and Manufacturing Co., Inc. Meanwhile, Café Amadeo bagged the Best Booth Award.

Two (2) coffee projects were also launched during the event. One is the Book of Influential Coffee Personalities in the Philippines which documents notable contributions of individuals to revitalize the local coffee industry, and the 1 Million Cups to Success project where proceeds could be used to support the education of coffee farmers' children.

The 3-day congress was a success in making the diversity of key players in the local coffee industry complementary with one another. As Dr. Helen F. Martinez, Supervising Science Research Specialist of DA-PhilMech, emphasized, "The more partnerships, the better because the work becomes lighter." (GACastillo)

BA English students present paper at the 7th NSRC

Three senior AB English students from the College of Arts and Sciences, namely: Lerry Anne A. Virtuso, Ted Joshua Paglomutan, and Armee Rose C. Amoda, presented their research papers at the 7th National Student Research Conference (NSRC) held at Selah Pods Hotel, Pasay City last December 16-17. The said conference, organized by the A & A Knowledge Base Research Consultancy and Training, Inc., aimed to support government and academic endeavors to nurture positive research culture in Philippine schools.

Virtuso presented two papers titled, “Analysis of the Prevalence and Functions of Profanities Used by Men and Women in Filipino Tweets” and “Cohesive Devices in Selected Political Addresses of Philippine and American Presidents: A Contrastive Analysis”. Meanwhile, Paglomutan presented his paper titled, “Boboto ko ‘to: Gender Differences on the Use of Directives among Selected 2019 Filipino Senatorial Speeches”. Amoda shared her study titled, “Semantic Analysis of Profanity in the Lyrics of Selected Original Filipino Rap Songs”. With these students were their research advisers, Dr. Agnes C. Francisco and Ms. Catherine R. Mojica, both core faculty members of the BA English/BA English Language Studies program of the Department of Languages and Mass Communication, College of Arts and Sciences.

This year’s theme, “Nurturing Students’ Research Character”, was elaborated by the conference keynote speaker, Dr. Maricar S. Prudente, Full Professor 10 of the Science Education Department of De La Salle University - Manila. A total of 79 paper presenters from various senior high schools, undergraduate and graduate schools were clustered in multiple disciplines. An academic networking where student participants and research advisers can share their R & D issues and concerns, best research practices, as well as research plans was also conducted after the paper presentations.

The NSRC is a semi-annual conference which provides students the opportunity to present their completed and ongoing
