PLSP benchmarks with CvSU-GADRC

By Maria Czarina P. Sioco

To develop a gender-responsive and inclusive institution, the Pamantasan ng Lungsod ng San Pablo (PLSP)-Gender and Development Center assessed the best practices of the Cavite State University (CvSU)-Gender and Development Resource Center (GADRC) last May 25.

PLSP officials and staff, headed by Dr. Sigfredo C. Adaja, university president, together with Prof. Lorena E. Bautista, acting vice president for Academic Affairs, and Mr. Mark Francis P. Donato, acting vice president for Administration, Planning, and Finance, were warmly welcomed by Dr. Hernando D. Robles, university president, and Dr. Susan G. Tan, director of GADRC.

Dr. Robles expressed his gratitude to the PLSP for visiting the university and the GADRC. He emphasized that the university attended the SEAMEO RIHED seminars held in Oxford University and that the university has progressed to Gender Equality, Diversity, and Social Inclusion (GEDSI). He also mentioned that GADRC has been named the Most Outstanding

State University GAD Implementer in Calabarzon for four consecutive years by the Regional Development Council (RDC) of Calabarzon. In addition, he said that the Agri-Eco Tourism Park is the only SUC-based park that has been approved by the Department of Tourism (DOT), thus he lastly (continue on page 5)

Engr. Gerry M. Castillo, director of the National Coffee Research, Development, and Extension Center (NCRDEC), served as one of the evaluators at the 2023 In-House Review held at the Southern Luzon State University (SLSU), Lucban, Quezon last May 22.

SLSU officials, headed by Dr. Doracie B. Zoleta-Nantes, university president, graced the activity and gave an inspirational message through a pre-recorded video. Dr. Marissa C. Esperal, vice president for Research, Extension, Production, Development and Innovation (REPD), and Dr. Nicanor L. Guinto, director of the Research Services, gave their welcome remarks and introduction of the evaluators, respectively. A total of 10 research project proposals were presented by the faculty of SLSU from different campuses, all aiming to be funded internally for possible implementation this 2023.

"The proposal is very well written and the expected output or data that will be collected in the study are very publishable." Engr. Castillo commented in one of the six (6) research proposals evaluated. Four (4) pure/basic and three (3) applied/development research were prepared by the participants.

BAELS conducts Language Research Conference 2023

By Ayesha Mari M. Gianan

Pragmaticus, the official organization of the Bachelor of Arts in English Language Studies (BAELS), conducted the Language Research Conference with the theme "Filipino Pride: The Glocalization of Philippine Languages" last May 17 at the SM Rolle Hall, Cavite State University (CvSU) via Hybrid setup. The said event aimed to encourage the BAELS students to present their papers in which selected panelists sought to objectively and professionally critique their papers. It was successfully conducted under the supervision of Prof. Emeliza T. Cruz and Dr. Agnes C. [Francisco, Pragmaticus advisers.

Faculty from the Department of Humanities (DHum), headed by Prof. Rosa R. Hernandez, assisted the organization in facilitating the said event with two sessions. Dr. Bettina Joyce P. Ilagan, dean of the College of Arts and Sciences, delivered a congratulatory message to the officers of Pragmaticus, their advisers, instructors, and participants.

In the morning, Dr. Lemuel R. Fontillas, Associate Professor IV of the Bataan Peninsula State University, was invited to be the plenary speaker. He discussed the topic titled "Ensuing Dialectical Identity thru Morphological and Lexical Variations," which delved into the significance of morphology in the formation of words and the creation of meaning. Meanwhile, Dr. Teresita H. Borres, Professor IV of the Central Mindanao University, also served as a keynote speaker and presented her paper titled "Phonological Features of Contemporary Spoken Binukid", which aimed to determine the consonants, vowels, and diphthongs presented and spoken in the Binukid language.

Highlighted in the afternoon was a research presentation of the students. Mr. Cyrel B. Rodriguez, (continue on page 6)

To further encourage gender-responsive leadership in the university system, the Cavite State University Gender and Development Resource Center (GADRC) conducted a two-day leadership seminar-workshop with the theme “Reframing Leadership to a Gender-Responsive Leadership” for the Administrative Council of the CvSU last May 9 and 10 held at the International Convention Center (ICON), CvSU.

Dr. Hernando D. Robles, university president, graced the opening program with a warm welcome as he commended the members and organizers for yet another step towards making the university truly a home for advocates of gender equality in all of its units, departments, and campuses.

Through the activities and a variety of topics covered by several respected resource speakers, the aforementioned activity gave the participants an opportunity to consider how the university's organizational leadership relates to their personal lives. Ms. Danica C. Gonzales -Saurombe, program coordinator of the Miriam College Women and Gender Institute (WAGI), defined the Gender Responsive Leadership; Ms. Maria Romila Tan of the World Vision International, Global Center Manila discussed “Who Are You? The Four Main Personality Profiles of a Leader” and “The Value of Strong Workplace Ethics”; Dr. Melanie M. Reyes, executive director of WAGI, discussed and facilitated a group activity on “Gender Responsive Planning and Budgeting”, and Ms. Amelia De-Chavez Pagdanganan, a mental health advocate, public speaker, and published author, inspired the audience with her personal experiences that were related to leadership and mental health and introduced her published books. Ms. Raecel A. Estebat, officer in-charge of Planning, Monitoring and Evaluation, awarded the certificates of appreciation to the resource speakers and facilitated the post-test and evaluation.

Dr. Camilo A. Polinga, vice president for Administrative and Support Services, formally ended the event and offered greetings to the attendees who had successfully completed the two-day seminar-workshop, highlighting the need for them to put what they had learned to use in their respective offices.
